

Senior Director, Operational Excellence

Catherine Kirtane leads IAVI's Operational Excellence team, which is focused on providing operational and project management support across the organization to drive process improvement, performance measurement, strategic planning, and execution.

Kirtane has more than 13 years of global health and population health experience across advisory and operational roles in nonprofits, management consulting, and integrated health systems. Prior to joining IAVI, she led performance measurement of population health programs for Northwell Health Solutions.

Kirtane holds an MBA and MPH in Global Health Management from Boston University and an M.A. in Economics from University of British Columbia.
